

OLGA ELLIS IS AGAIN A CENTER OF LEGAL FIGHT

Case in Which Honolulu Was Once Interested Comes Up in Tokio Court

Little Olga Ellis, once the object of an international search in which Honolulu joined, is again the center of interest. She is the center of a bitter legal fight now taking place in Tokio, Japan, between her father, John Ellis, and her mother.

The history of the case goes back to 1912, it being alleged that the father abducted his daughter, then 5 years old, and took her to Japan. He is now a teacher in the Higher Commercial School. Mrs. Ellis brought suit against him for the custody of the daughter.

The greater part of the preliminary hearing was given over to the discussion of the point whether the case should be decided under the law of Massachusetts, the former home of Mr. and Mrs. Ellis, or under the law of Japan. Mr. Sato, who represented Mrs. Ellis, argued for the law of Massachusetts, as Mrs. Ellis has obtained two degrees in a district and a superior court in Massachusetts giving her the custody of the little girl.

Mr. Ellis' barrister, Mr. Horiye, contended for the law of Japan, arguing that a judgment based on the law of Massachusetts could not be enforced in Japan as there was no treaty between the United States and Japan whereby the law of an American state could be made to hold in such a case. He represented that the little girl was now living happily with her father, was going to school in Tokio and was happier with her father in Japan than she would be with her mother in America.

The hearing was continued to July 19.

More than two years ago Mrs. Ellis sent to interested persons in Honolulu asking them to search Hawaii for her child. It was believed the little girl had been brought here by her father. Not long afterward they were located in the Orient.

THREE SUPERVISORS GET FREE RIDE IN AN AUTO

Appropos of the discussion that arose at Tuesday night's board meeting in regard to the dimming of the city supervisors were taken out for a daylight exhibition of the dimmed globe light yesterday afternoon by one of the automobile drivers of the city.

The three were Supervisor Larsen, who owns a Ford car with ground glass dimming; Supervisor or Hollister, who rather doubts the value of the frosted globe; and Supervisor Shingle of the roads committee.

The demonstration was made in a 1916 Buick, and it is believed that the supervisors were pleasantly impressed. Supervisor Larsen remarked that the dimmed globe did give a blurred appearance in broad daylight, and in other ways showed himself willing to admit that it had advantages.

WANT PENHALLOW TO BRING BOOKS IN MAKINO CASE

Senator H. B. Penhallow, manager of the Walluku (Maui) Sugar Company, is the latest witness wanted by the plaintiff in the case of Fred Makino against members of the sugar planters' association, the trial of which was begun in Circuit Judge Stuart's court yesterday.

A subpoena has been served on Manager Penhallow. It orders him to bring into court all receipts, documents, letters and vouchers of the Walluku Sugar Company showing all memorandums of money alleged to have been paid by the company to the Hawaiian Sugar Planters' Association during 1909-10, the years of the great Japanese strike.

More than half a dozen sugar plantation managers have been subpoenaed by the plaintiff as witnesses. The action is for damages in the sum of $50,000.

The work of securing a jury was continued today. It is believed the panel will not be completed before Monday.

This afternoon the summoning of a special venire of 26 persons was ordered by Judge Stuart. The present panel has been exhausted. The case has been continued until 10 o'clock Monday morning.

BUSY MEETINGS FOR DELEGATES TO CONFERENCE

Ninety-third Evangelical Convention Marked By Much Work Disposed of

Very largely attended meetings were the order of the day at the Sunday school and Christian Endeavor sessions of the 93d Hawaiian Evangelical Conference yesterday. Reports of considerable interest to the delegates were read.

The evening session was a memorial service in memory of Rev. William Brewster Oleson, late secretary of the Hawaiian Board of Missions. Dr. Doremus Scudder spoke upon the outstanding qualities of leadership of Rev. Mr. Oleson, and dwelt particularly upon the great energy as shown in every detail of his work. Dr. Scudder spoke also of the enthusiasm of the late secretary of his mastery of detail, and of the system that he had inaugurated in the methods of the board. The growth of the churches during his administration was emphasized.

Rev. S. L. Desha followed with an eloquent tribute, speaking particularly of Mr. Oleson's absolute fearlessness. Rev. Akaho Akana dwelt upon the earnestness and steadfastness of the man who has gone and the last speaker, Mr. J. K. Kanepuu, summed up what others had said and spoke of the personal appreciation of Mr. Oleson.

At the first session of the annual meeting of the Hawaiian Board yesterday afternoon was read the lengthy report of Rev. W. B. Oleson, which had been written before he went to the mainland for a vacation and died there. The treasurer's report, that of Theodore Richards, was also read and approved subject to audit.

Both of these reports were referred by the Hawaiian Board.

The most important work of this morning was the election of the members for the term of three years, whose office will expire in 1918. The following were chosen: R. B. Dodge, D. C. Lindsay, B. D. Bond, Wm. A. Bowen, A. Frank Cooke, Stephen L. Desha, J. P. Cooke, J. F. Cowan, W. O. Smith, G. S. Waterhouse, Peter C. Jones, Doremus Scudder, H. K. Poon, A. V. Seaton, John Waterhouse. These members have been nominated at the board meeting yesterday and were elected by unanimous vote this morning.

It was decided to adopt the recommendation of the board and request that Rev. Henry P. Judd act as secretary of the Hawaiian Board until January 10, 1916, and that the committee, consisting of Rev. Doremus Scudder, D. D., Secretary Paul Super and Rev. O. H. Gulick be continued to look over the field and bring in the name of a man to be recommended to the board for the position.

Rev. Dr. Scudder and Rev. John P. Erdman are the two delegates elected by the association to represent this body at the national council to be held in New Haven the middle of October. Rev. J. L. Hopwood delivered a very earnest address at 10 o'clock this morning upon "The Need of Evangelism."

Sessions of the Sunday school and Christian Endeavor Societies are being held this afternoon. Rev. A. Akana and Rev. W. Kamau are selected to lead the prayer meeting this evening.

There will be a sunrise prayer meeting tomorrow morning, which Rev. D. Kaai will lead. The Sunday school exhibition will take place from 9 to 12 o'clock. In the afternoon at 4 the cornerstone of the Hawaiian Board building will be laid. In the evening the ordination of S. Nagamori will take place at the Nuuanu street Japanese church.

FORMER CREW CAPTAIN AT STANFORD IS HERE

J. C. Huston, captain of the Stanford crew in 1910, rowing No. 7, is among the passengers who arrived this morning on the Siberia from San Francisco.

Mr. Huston is on his way to Pekin, where he has been appointed to the position of student interpreter for the American embassy at that place. He took his course in the Chinese language in the department of Oriental languages at the University of California, and last winter went to Washington to take the civil service examinations, with 65 other candidates. He plans to remain in the city for several days to take advantage of the swimming at Waikiki beach. Mr. Huston is staying at the Y. M. C. A.

PICTURES OF PIONEERS TO BE IN CORNERSTONE

WHAT CATARRH IS

It is said that every third person is troubled with catarrh in some form. Science has shown that nasal catarrh indicates a weakened condition of the body; that the secretions of the mucous membranes are quickly affected, and local treatments in the form of snuffs and vapors, do little if any good.

To correct catarrh you should treat its cause by enriching your blood and improving your general condition with the oil-ford in Scott's Emulsion which is a medicinal food and a building tonic, free from alcohol or harmful drugs.

Scott's Emulsion is not a patent medicine but a concentrated medicinal food, prescribed by the best physicians for forty years.

What's in the Cup?

The flavor may be agreeable, but appetite isn't the only thing to be considered.

The average cup of coffee contains about 2½ grains of caffeine, a powerful drug which is a frequent cause of indigestion, constipation, nervousness, heart trouble and other ills.

Some persons are strong enough to use coffee for a time without apparent harm, but repeated doses of its subtle, cumulative drug, caffeine, sooner or later affects the strong man or woman.

Any coffee drinker will benefit from a change to

INSTANT POSTUM

This pure food-drink has a snappy tang, very like the Old Gov't Javyas, but it contains no caffeine, nor any other harmful ingredient. It is made of selected wheat, a little wholesome molasses and is pure, invigorating and delicious.

And Instant Postum is so easy to make. Put a level teaspoonful in a cup, add hot water, and sugar and cream to taste.

The convenience of Instant Postum is seen at a glance. Some prefer Postum Cereal—the original form—which must be well boiled.

Grocers sell both kinds, the flavor is equally delicious and the cost per cup is about the same.
